PRICE TWO CENTS

Wood Wouldn't

A bit of action in the third period as Queen's goaler DAVE WOOD foils GEORGE HALE'S bid to break into the goal scoring summary. George more than compensated by assisting brother Tom in each of his three tallies. That's BLAKE DAVIS in the background as he came to his teammates aid. The tricolor netminder was not this effective all evening as the red light behind flashed six times to his annoyance.

"Parliament" To Sit Wed. In Ballroom

The third session of the Model Parliament to be held Wednesday 22, January, in the Union Ballroom will see a Progressive Conservative Government in power with the Labor Progressive Party forming the official opposition, while the Liberals and C.C.F. will represent the minority parties of the opposition.

Prof. Mallory, as speaker, will open the session at 8 o'clock, and a question period will follow shortly after, during which the opposition will question the government over matters of policy. At the end of the party speeches independent students will have the privilege of speaking. They also will have the right to vote on the motions at the end of the evening. The Progressive Conservatives have presented a resolution that no Crown Corporation is to be formed without the specific approval of Parliament. They argue that during the war certain powers were given to the cabinet for emergency action but that it is essential that these powers be restored to Parliament now that the war is over. They add that Parliament represents the people and the power to make decisions should now be given back to them. The Government front bench will consist of William Archer, Robert Simpson, Ian H. Fraser and Pierre M. Archambault.

The Labour Progressive Party, official opposition, charge the Government with trying to raise a false issue in suggesting that the supremacy of Parliament is at stake in the present Legislation. They claim that the principle of Crown Companies has been proven a good one, generally accepted by the people, and that without them we would not have won the war. They continued that the government would be more in tune with the feeling of the people if they would establish Crown Companies to produce housing materials which are in such short supply and to deal with such matters as price control and the meat shortage.

Commenting on the Resolution a C.C.F. spokesman represented his party as being squarely opposed to the Government Bill. He added that when his party is in power Crown Companies might well be the form of many industries now privately owned.

The Liberals will also oppose the Bill, and they characterize the measure as petty Conservative obstruction to all progressive legislation in this country.

Dawson Vet Society To Hold Meeting

Lou Gottlieb, President of the Dawson Student Veterans Society has called a general meeting of the Society to be held in Theatre No. 1 on Monday, January 20, at 7 p.m.

At this time the representatives who attended the National Conference will submit their reports on Housing, Finance, and Employment. An open discussion will follow.

All members are urgently requested to attend.

Veterans Treated By Hospital; Yearly Financial Aid Required

The presentation of a golden key by Hon. Brooke Claxton, Minister of National Defence, to Dr. F. Cyril James marked the transfer last Friday of a military annex to a civilian hospital, as McGill took official possession of the two-storey wartime addition to the Montreal Neurological Institute.

In a ceremony held in the amphitheatre of the M.N.I. and attended by federal government and civic officials, and by representatives of both French and English Montreal hospitals and universities, Dr. James described the founding of the institute in 1933 mainly due to the work of Dr. Wilfrid B. Penfield, its director. When the war came, the congestion was so great that through the Department of National Defence the annex was quickly planned and constructed.

VETS TREATED

Men were sent from the battle fields to Dr. Penfield to receive the necessary treatments available only at this institute. Before the building of the annex, approximately 500 of these men had been cared for, and already over 400 veterans have been hospitalized at the Annex. Now it has been given, fully equipped, to McGill to form a part of the Neurological Institute of Montreal, a branch of the university, subject to the provision that 30 beds would be reserved for D.V.A. and members of the armed forces.

Hon. Mr. Claxton, a McGill graduate and former faculty member, who made the presentation, said, "This golden key symbolizes that the formal title is now transferred, but it symbolizes much more than that—it symbolizes the opening of the door to new and larger opportunities for the prevention, of illness, the cure of the sick, and the welfare of mankind."

FACILITIES OUTGROWN

The Institute has now outgrown all its facilities with patients arriving from all parts of the world, waiting for empty beds. Dr. Penfield stressed the financial problems facing the Institute, stating the necessity replacing the temporary annex by a permanent structure and of making other building changes "to accommodate the irreversible features of our growth".

A delegation of doctors and officials of the Institute led by Dr. Penfield, went to the City Hall on Friday to announce that the world-famous medical centre is in need of $50,000 a year additional income. J. O. Asselin, chairman of the executive committee, assured the group that the city would do everything in its power to make its share of the need available. He added that he believed the 33 municipalities on the island should all share in the project.

Two More Editions Of 'Vet Dos' Planned

The entertainment committee of the Veterans' Society have been instructed by the Executive to proceed with the arrangements for two more "Vet Dos" to be held during this term. Dates will be announced later. Amendments to the constitution are now being prepared and the Executive plan to have a general meeting before the middle of February to ratify these proposals. Resolutions adopted by the recent National Conference will be publicized when the Brief to the Federal Government, now being prepared by the National Council, is finished. It is expected that this will be completed during the next few days.

Special efforts are being made by the Executive to help remedy the situation of those veterans who are pensioners and receive a cut in their educational grant because they are receiving a pension from war disabilities.

CJAD's Midnight Express Features The Dawson Car

As the strains of Duke, Ellington's Take The A Train fades into the background, another 'Midnight Express' takes to the airwaves. Every night at 11:10, personable Ted Root ushers in one of the most popular record programs in Montreal, possibly in Canada. Because he gets numerous letters from Dawson students asking for favorite records and for pictures of the sultry-voiced female who sings off the program, a new addition will make its debut this week, "The Dawson Car." This car will feature requests from Dawson and will include some announcements about the Red and White Review.

Contrary to popular belief, Ted Root does not use a script. He does have a list of the records that are used on his program, but apart from this small slip of paper in front of him, the show is entirely ad lib. However, Ted informs us that he will be using some written material for his show this week, and that it will be of a very unusual nature.

The "Midnight Express" featuring Ted Root and the latest recordings can be heard Monday through Friday, over Station CJAD at 11:10. If you haven't heard this program before, or even if you have, you'd better lend an ear to it this week. It will be of special interest to McGill students.

Red Pucksters Defeat Queen's, 6-2; Basketball Squad Loses to Vermont

Cats in Terrific Ball Handling Display; Claw Redmen 57-25

By LARRY SIROTA
(Daily Staff Writer)

The Vermont Catamounts must have sharpened their claws before entrenching for Montreal, for they showed no respect for Canadian hospitality, by pounding out two lop-sided decisions over McGill and Y.M.H.A. over the weekend. After walking off the Currie gym on the long end of a 57-25 shellacking Friday eve the Cats chalked up a stinging 65-35 defeat on the Blues Saturday to become the first out-of-town aggregate to best the Mount Royal quintet this season.

Play Contrasts Eastern and Western Life

Final casting took place last Friday for "Command Performance", a one act play by J. S. Knapp. The director, Jack Busby, reports that a fine cast has been obtained and that everything is under control.

The scene of the play is in an Indian Raj where the plot centers about a revengeful Maharajah who skillfully leads his victims into a psychological discussion to aid in the accomplishment of his goal. Thus the whole basic attitude of the West towards life in many aspects is shown in sharp contrast to that of the East. The plot, the unusual setting, and a certain secret experiment (to be revealed after the presentation) should add up to an entertaining performance.

The play was chosen because it requires a large cast which gives more people an opportunity to act or help with the production. There are still two male parts open and anyone wishing to try out for them should come to the Club Room at 5:30 on Monday. The cast is as follows: Molly Spevak, Sofia Goldfarb, Eileen Paul, Joan Bayer, Marv Collins, Seymour Spector, Jack Neale, and Alan Williams.

Scholarships In Athletics Is Debate Topic

One of the most controversial subjects that disturbed the last term at McGill will be re-opened this Tuesday when the Arts and Science Debating Club sponsors the latest in its series of noon hour debates when the resolution will be:

"Resolved; that Athletic Scholarships should be introduced at McGill"

Supporting the question will be Johnny Piper and Leonard Waldman, while Tom Bird and Bill Tetley will take the negative view.

This question reached a climax just after the football season with the resignation of Doug Kerr, our coach, due to the remarkably poor showing made by the football team and it has remained a question of absorbing interest to the student body.

Lunches may be brought along to be eaten and the Debating Society hopes that an interesting and informative lunch hour will be provided.

War Movie Featured By Film Society Tues.

On Tuesday at 6 o'clock in Room 250 of the Biology Building the Film Society will present "The True Glory" a documentary film which records the story of the Allied campaign against Germany from V-Day to the fall of Berlin.

The film was made by the combat cameramen of many nations and the voices of the commentators reflect inflections peculiar to the soldiers of many of the United Nations and the jargon of many different martial trades. The picture was very favorably reviewed in Time magazine as one of the best documentaries of the war.

It wasn't so much the superiority of the Vermonters in the McGill clash that accounted for the large score as the complete off-colour showing of the Redmen, who couldn't get the ball to fall through the ring. The Burlington boys conceded after game time that it was a much improved squad that they were facing again and that hard luck around the hoop was the deciding factor. Statistics show that the Red and White team potted but eleven out of 71 shots taken at the basket.

POOR CROWD

This does not detract from the fact that the sparse crowd witnessed some of the cleverest ball-handling ever displayed around these parts. Not once did the visitors throw a pass away and had the McGill checking not been so close the score might have read much higher.

The Cats worked into a 8-0 lead right off the bat via the efforts of Larry Killick, whose set shots and fancy but deadly accurate passing was a real treat to watch. At this point, the Redmen rallied to within three points but that was the closest they got.

FRASER OFF

Tremendously missing the presence of "Bucket Boy" Fraser, who was sidelined with blood poisoning of the leg and high fever, the Local lads found it an almost impossible task to snare rebounds as the height of the Cat guards proved to be an insurmountable factor.

Aside from the sparkling showing of Larry Killick, who notched 12 points, Bob Jake, with 15 markers, and centre newcomer, Frankie French, also with a dozen were dead eye under the netting. Putting in a strong two way display and fitting in very well with Davies' Doodlers was Dawsonite Kenny Taylor, whose second half efforts were good for six points. Charlie Glodblom likewise, added balance to the Redmen after becoming acquainted with McGill's ball-handling style. He was obviously slowed up by his bad ankle and trick knee. Davies will definitely use these boys in the future in an effort to find a winning combination, which means probable service in the New Brunswick clash this Saturday.

H. S. Students To Hear Talks About Careers

January 22 is the day set aside for the biggest career conference ever held in Montreal. Six hundred boys in grades X, XI and XII of the High School of Montreal will gather at the opening assembly at 9:30 a.m. to hear an address by Dr. F. Cyril James who will discuss the Economic Value of an Education. Following Dr. James' address, there will be group meetings where students will have the opportunity to learn from experts more about the fields they wish to enter.

According to a survey of student interests, the majority are interested in engineering, the mechanical trades, medicine, and law, with engineering heading the list. The students will also be able to obtain information about occupations such as business ownership, advertising and selling, printing trades, teaching, mechanical trades, farming, architecture, and accountancy.

In the afternoon, Dr. D. J. Wilson of the Montreal Star, will address a general assembly on the Bricks and Mortar of Success.

U.C. Votes Against Investigation of Frats.

Toronto, Jan. 19.—(CUP)—The University College debating parliament voted eighty-six to seventy-five on Friday against the investigation of racial discrimination in fraternities. The motion resulted from a proposal at a December Antidiscrimination Rally which suggested that all fraternities found discriminating should be black listed.

The Student Government said that the fraternities had nothing to fear from investigation if they were innocent and that they should try to clear their names. The opposition stated that the fraternities were private organizations and that such an investigation would be a violation of their rights.

Profs Discuss Factors That Lead To War

A four man panel made up of professors of the various social sciences will discuss the "Causes of War" at an open meeting to be held in the Grill room of the Union this Thursday night, under the joint sponsorship of the Political Economy and International Relations Clubs. With a member of the faculty from the departments of economics, sociology, history and psychology, on the panel, the meeting will discuss the basic underlying factors leading to war from the point of view of these four approaches to the problem and attempt to assess the relative importance of each.

Professor Higgins will discuss the question from an economic standpoint, while Professor Fieldhouse will explain the historical ramifications. Professor Laviolette is the speaker from the Department of Sociology while the representative of the Psychology Department is as yet unnamed.

The meeting marks the first time that the problem has been attacked in this manner and as one of the members of the group in charge pointed out, "We have every viewpoint on the subject represented in the discussion. Each speaker's comments will be brief but all-inclusive and we feel that the nature of the presentation of the problem is something that has not been attempted in recent years on this campus."

DAILY MEETING

Today at 1 p.m. Desk Editors and other Editorial members of the news staff will meet in the Daily office. It is essential that all these staff members attend this meeting, the News Editor pointed out.

I.U.D.L. Tryouts To Be Held In Union Ballroom Today

Tryouts to determine the four McGill representatives in the Inter-University Debating League will be held in the Ballroom at 5 p.m. today when contestants will speak for five minutes on the subject "Resolved that the Veto Power contributes to the effective working of the United Nations." In the past, Gold Keys, emblematic of McGill's highest debating achievement, have been awarded to the speakers.

Two of the four speakers selected will debate against Bishop's College on February 13, and the other McGill team will travel to the University of Ottawa. On the same day Loyola will send a team to Bishop's and will debate at home against Ottawa University. The university with the most points will represent the Eastern

Tommy Hale Notches Three To Pace McGill Victory

By DICK JOSEPH
(Daily Staff Writer)

Paced by Tommy Hale's smart hat trick performance, the McGill Redmen extended their undefeated hockey streak to three straight, at the expense of the Queensmen from Kingston in the Forum on Friday night. The 6-2 victory, in a very scrumbly game, firmly establishes the locals in the van for the race to the Thomson trophy.

Striking like lightning, in the first period, to score thrice within two minutes, the McGills looked as if they were on a romp similar to the one last year when they pulverized the tricolor by a 14 to 0 count in Kingston. They then, however settled back and played rather listless hockey, only occasionally coming out of their lethargy to show flashes of the form which makes them favorites to again recapture the championship.

The Kingstonians on the other hand showed even less, and outside of their starting lineup were no great threat. These six, when they were on the ice, usually carried the play, and generally showed up as well as anything the Campbell Clan had to offer.

McGILL SCORES

The first Red goal was a picture play, with Tommy Hale carrying the puck from behind his own blue line into the opposing goalmouth, where he slipped in brother Georges rebound.

Hardly had the 5,000 rabid Red rooters sat down, when they were brought to their feet again by the next two McGill tallies from the sticks of Ward Pitfield and Johnny Brough within forty seconds of each other. The former deflected in off a defending players skate, while the other was the result of a clever bit of engineering by Jack Millar.

The yellow shirted visitors drew first blood in the middle stanza, when Rene Lefebvre whacked home Lorne Smith's passout from behind the cage. Will Anderson got this one back, as he broke away from the ganging yellow hordes and artistically drew goaler Dave Wood out of the nets before slipping the rubber in behind him.

T. HALE GETS TWO
Scores in the final frame were by Smith for the Gaels, and two by Tommy Hale for our local lads, the last a splendid example of sharpshooting as he picked the narrow side with his shot.

The ragged play throughout was marked by hard checking by both sides which earned the contestants a total of twenty-seven minutes in the cooler as the referees called everything they saw. The Redmen were the worst offenders, claiming fifteen of these long minutes as their own.

Badman title for the evening belongs to Joe Pettit for his three hundred second banishment as the result of a short-lived mixup with Capt. Jerry Wagner of the tricolor. Heron and Flanagan each collected a double in the handicap mutual.

Next Friday the Redmen tangle with the Carabins from over the mountain in a return engagement. A better brand of puckchasing will have to be shown by our worthies or they are liable to find themselves on the short end of the

Guidance to Happiness

It has long been the hypothesis of personnel managers and other human relations authorities that a good deal of the unhappiness and dissatisfaction in our society is due to the fact that people are employed in jobs to which they are little suited by temperament or ability or a variety of other factors. This hypothesis has been backed by psychiatrists who have discovered that many neurotic patients have shown a distinct lack of harmony between their employment and their personality structure.

But it was not until fairly recently that progressive measures began to be taken both in industry and in the realm of education. In the latter there has developed an appreciation of the importance of vocational guidance — a measure most definitely needed in the high schools and in the first years of university training, where students have not been able to see the best direction in which to turn their particular capacities. This has led to many unfortunate choices by university students, errors not discovered until post-graduate days, often too late.

To prevent such loss of valuable years of university training, several undergraduates on the campus have been turning their energies towards the setup of a regular vocational guidance series of lectures. The first move was made this fall when a "gen" night was held as part of Freshman Reception. The evening was planned to include a few speakers well-informed on particular topics involving professional training. The program was well-received but little can be accomplished on such a small-scale plan.

However, the idea has spread to the various faculties and in particular, to the Arts and Science Undergraduate Society. This group has selected a special committee on education whose main function will be to plan and run a series of lectures by eminent professors of the various faculties. These men will present the varied possibilities of their own fields and will advise the undergraduate on his choice of courses and on his preparatory training in general. In this way, men and women who have come to college with an open mind as to their future will be better able to decide on the course which suits them best. Not only can this plan be used for undergraduates in the arts or science faculties, but it can be extended to the professional schools themselves where students can be advised on the specialties which are so much a part of our specialized community structure. The use of such programs of advisement will result not only in happier men and women, employed as they should be in their favorite fields, but will result in greater efficiency on their part with the resulting good to society in general.

Such views are near-Utopian at present. The plan must be worked out in the best way possible and must be tried for years before positive results can be gauged. However, it is a plan well-worth considering by students interested in the question of human relations.—A.K.

To Be Read to Norm 'n' Jack

—By ARON and ASHLEY

Dear "NORMAN" JACK:

We do not as a rule read more than one consecutive line of that collection of misquoted humour (plagiarized from the cave decorations of the Neanderthal man) exhumed by the CORONER. We choose instead to remove our hat and stand with bowed head in memory of old friends, jokes which have long since attained their eternal reward, ("And the trumpets sounded for them on the other side.")

Our press clipping service, however, has sent us your latest "column". We have inquired of our barristers Snark, Boojum, Sons, as to the penalties for "columny" and malicious dissemination of forged false, and/or fabricated missives. As per their advice, we are terminating our contract whereby we furnished you all second-hand and sub-standard material which fell far short of being suitable for our own purposes.

As to the derogatory remark which you made about our "originality" (assuming that you comprehend the meaning of the word) we are prepared to take action. If such remarks occur again we shall print beside the next "NORMAN" JACK (circa 1066) "column" a list of the sources of each joke—compiled from the archives of the McGill Medieval Conclave.

Furthermore, we are prepared to offer one perforated roll (750 sheets) of Norm 'n' Jack as a prize to the writer of any letter that offers proof that we have knowingly plagiarized our material from any source whatsoever. We also offer a valuable prize (one autographed, original, hitherto unpublished Aron and Ashley "Terse Verse" illuminated by the Calligrapher Royal, Sir Lee Kynn Waterman) for the best conclusion, in twenty-five words or less, to the sentence "My digestion has improved since I stopped reading Norm 'n' Jack because..." All entries should be in the hands of the judges before midnight, Thursday January 23. Address Ashley and Aron, Union Tuck Shop.

We also note the statement that the N. 'n' J. "column" was the first to print the name of Aron before Ashley. We suggest that they approach an acquaintance who can read and have him refer to the Daily files, starting with the first Aron and Ashley poem in the Freshman issue.

THE VERDICT

In reviewing this week's offering at the PRINCESS, The Verdict with Peter Lorre and Sidney Greenstreet, I am faced with two alternatives. I may judge it as a picture, remembering the two English films I have seen recently, or I may judge it a Hollywood product with no reference to good picture making.

Taking the more charitable viewpoint, Lorre and Greenstreet by excellent portrayals have made something worthwhile out of an otherwise ordinary picture. This seems always to be the case with them and it is a pity that these two are not given the backing in material, support and direction that they deserve. Anyway it's still a fair evening's entertainment.

"TWO YEARS BEFORE THE MAST"

In the second week at the Capitol, is a stirring sea drama filmed after Richard Dana's famous novel of 1840. It was based on the journal kept by a common seaman and telling of the terrible conditions under which the U.S. Merchant Marine of that day operated. There is a money-mad Boston ship owner, a cruel and tyrannous captain, a crew long suffering, sick, terrorized, finally driven to mutiny. The acting is uniformly good, and the original book has not been left too far behind. Recommended for those who like adventure, and historical pictures.

"BLUE SKIES"

Fourth week in Montreal—32 melodies—two top stars, one in his last role on the screen (Fred Astaire will give up dancing in movies)—technicolor and Joan Caulfield—all adding up to a very enjoyable spectacle. Excellent for those "pre-term paper" or "post-term paper" blues.

The plot is irritating, but one can close one's eyes. All one needs to see is Astaire's superb dancing. Bing Crosby teamed up with Irving Berlin is also a pretty "terrific" combination. On the whole a musical well worth seeing.

AT THE IMPERIAL

In addition to sleuthing, knowledge to be gained from the two thrillers at present playing the Imperial includes much psychology, psychoanalysis, anthropology, blowpipe and air pistol technique and other information valuable to students in all fields of knowledge. All in all, the program has much to recommend it, except in the way of acting, photography and direction.

Mario Berini, Met. Opera Star To Appear at McGill Jan. 31st.

On the 31st of this month, in approximately ten days, Mario Berini, tenor of the Metropolitan Opera Company will be a guest of McGill University at the second in the McGill Students' Concert Series, to be held in R.V.C. Mr. Berini, who was originally scheduled to appear at McGill on December 13, was unable to come to Montreal, as planned, due to unavoidable commitments with the Metropolitan Opera Company, and the concert was therefore postponed until January 31st.

If the approaching concert is even half as successful as was the Canadian debut of Miss Carol Brice last November, the executive of the Concert Series will have one more feather in their caps. Miss Brice received what amounted to rave notices, from the critics and the public. Mr. Berini's concert promises to be another notable success.

Mario Berini is a comparatively young man to have achieved the reputation which is now his in the world of music. Montreal has heard him previously, singing with leading artists of the Metropolitan during one of the Montreal Opera Festivals. He received unanimous acclaim from the local press for his role as Rodolfo, in May, 1945, the Herald, the Star, and the Gazette agreeing that "the surprise of the evening was Mario Berini". The Gazette continued "Mr. Berini sang superbly. This is a natural Italian tenor, a rendering of which Mr. Berini can be proud", while the Star remarked, "Chief honors of the occasion were won by Mario Berini. His is a rich tenor voice to which one could listen for hours on end without tiring. It is a masterpiece of effortless beauty, rich in tone, surprisingly flexible, resonant and thrilling."

It is interesting to note that Mario Berini originally intended to be a doctor, and entered Los Angeles Junior College as a pre-med student. But playing the lead in a college opera gave him his first taste of the theatre, and convinced him that music was for him. A radio talent scout heard him, and engaged him to do his own weekly broadcast over a West Coast station. From Los Angeles to the movies was a short step, and for many movies, "One Night of Love", with Grace Moore, "Damsel in Distress", with Fred Astaire, and "Footlight Parade", with James Cagney, the young tenor was the voice behind the star, heard but not seen.

He made his New York debut a short time later, in May, 1940, as Faust with the San Carlo Opera Company. Then, a sensational appearance as Rodolfo in the Philadelphia Opera Company's production of "La Boheme", and an engagement as soloist with the Philadelphia Orchestra under the baton of Eugene Ormandy. He recently joined the Metropolitan Opera Company, before which he was a leading tenor of the Chicago Opera Company. He is in ever increasing demand for concerts throughout the United States, Canada and South America. He has been with the Opera Nacional in Mexico City in recent seasons, his success there last year having been so great that the leading critics wrote that not since Caruso has any tenor created such a furore in opera there.

Mr. Berini has appeared as soloist with the leading orchestras all over the continent, among them the New York Philharmonic, the NBC Symphony and the Havana Philharmonic Orchestra. He has sung on all the coast to coast radio networks, on several of his own programs over NBC and as a guest artist on various perennially popular programs.

The executive of the concert series announced last night that subscriptions for the remaining three concerts (the other two are William Primrose, world famous violinist, on Feb. 28th, and Jesus San Roma, pianist, on Mar. 21) are priced at $3.25 per subscription.

Intermediate Icemen Win; Cagers Drop Thriller

Pucksters Smash Bishops 7-2, Loyola Edge Hoopsters 34-33 In Fast Weekend Competition

By TONY DUNCAN
The trip to Lennoxville, Saturday, was a very profitable one for the McGill Intermediate puck squad as they humbled a strong Bishops College team by the lopsided score of 7-2.

Winter winds that blew across the open rink at Bishop's couldn't cool off the flying Red team which displayed great offensive and defensive power in its first league game of the season.

SCORING POWER

Coach Ross Hutchings, who feared that lack of practice would affect the scoring punch of his charges, can regard the rest of the schedule with optimism instead of his usual pessimism. Saturday's game proved that the Redmen can score 'em... and in bunches.

All the pucksters were in fine form as they tore up and down the ice surface giving their opponents little chance to get their plays working. The line of Chippindale, Geddes and Beck was very effective, their passing plays clicking perfectly. Ovendon in goal for McGill played a good game in the nets, his work being made easier by the stonewall play on defence of Chalmers and Bridel.

TWO GOAL LEAD

McGill got off to a two goal lead early in the opening frame on goals by Chippindale and Chalmers. Wilson, the best player for Bishop's, closed the gap when he potted the first of his two goals, making the score 2-1 for McGill. In the second stanza the teams checked closely and both goalies were tested by hard, close-in shots. Whizzer Smith, who also plays a good game of football, picked the corner of the cage and fired a quick shot past the Bishop's goal keeper. Layton racked up McGill's fourth goal towards the end of the period.

Four goals were counted in the final period, three by the Redmen and one for the Lennoxville squad. Wilson broke through to score his second tally of the night on a fast break from the blue-line. Bridel, Geddes and O'Toole each garnered a goal for McGill as the Bishop's defence collapsed completely under the constant pressure of the McGill attacks. Final score: McGill 7, Bishop's 2.

Schedules Start;

This week the intramural athletics activity gets a further lift as volleyball will get underway shortly. Lists for recruits will be posted on the notice boards of the various buildings for the benefit of all potential sphere-punchers.

Class managers must be selected among the various teams this week, and all volunteers are asked to contact either Hay Finlay at the Athletics Office or Larry Sirota, Manager, at CA. 3654. The schedule is not likely to be available until Wednesday, but everything is being done to make possible an opening game this Thursday, and announcements will be made promptly in the Daily.

Down Basketball everything is running quite smoothly with but a few defaults as of last week to report. The schedule for this week is as follows:
Tues. 8:15 P.M.
Eng. IV vs. Comm. IV
Eng. IIIB vs. Med. III
Instead of unnecessarily defaulting any games, managers are asked to notify Hay Finlay or Lou Lanier 24 hours ahead of any game which they are unable to attend.

The play in the Interfaculty league is set to get under way on Wednesday of this week, when two games are to be played; followed by another two on Thursday. The schedule will be found elsewhere on page 3.
Any players interested in playing can contact their respective managers as follows:
Arts—Dick Wilson, WE. 3004.
Phys. Ed.—Lionel Fournier, HA. 6491.
Commerce—John Wight, WE. 1589.
Law—Jack Roy, AT. 6993.
Science—Ken Turner, EX. 2027.
Dentistry—Les Gill, DE. 4835.
Engineering—George Schneider, AM. 6248.
Medicine—Don Brown, BE. 2886.

Interfaculty Ski Meet Attended By Over 60 Men at St. Sauveur

Over 60 competitors braved the icy slopes of St. Sauveur as the annual interfaculty ski meet was held yesterday in the worst snow conditions so far this season.

The faculty standings were not yet available at press time last night, but top honors in the individual scoring went to Gordon Hood and Marc Dancose who won the downhill and slalom respectively.

TRAIL DANGEROUS

The Red Birds trail was found to be too dangerous for the downhill so this event was run over a trail of packed ice crust which ran from the top of the T-low through "Little Switzerland" and down Hill 71. Behind Hood, who skussed this speedy course in 35.5 seconds, were Don Fisher and Walter Tilden, who placed second and third with 38 and 41 seconds respectively.

In the slalom held on Hill 71 during the afternoon, Dancose of Eng. 3 weaved through the flags in 51.5 seconds while Langevin and Pete Moore took place and show positions. Don Fisher arrived fifth in this event and thus posted the best combined time for the day.

In the R.V.C. section, Liz Turner Bone topped top honors as she won both the slalom and downhill by comfortable margins.

The following are the leading times:

1. M. Dancose, Eng. II	51.5

By ROSS BROUGHAM

Thanks to a long shot by Charlebois with forty seconds to go, Loyola's Intermediates nosed out a 34-33 win over Rutherford's Rushing Redmen in an action-packed tilt of basketball played Saturday afternoon at Loyola's gymnasium. McGill had held the lead for the entire game until the tricky rival forward found the mark. The Maroon and White were paced by Hilton with 12 points, Charlebois with 8, and Norris with 6 counters. For McGill, Elo who turned in a heads-up game with 10 points, Zalkind with 8, and Murray with 7 were the bright stars while Dilkofsky and Dogherly were in on every play. Personal fouls were few and it was a game featuring clean hard-fought play by these two evenly-matched quintets.

OPENS SCORING

Norris of Loyola drew first blood with a long, looping shot but Dilkofsky's lay-up evened up the count. Aided by Murray's three-point spurt, McGill jumped into a 7-2 lead. Loyola's passing was off at this stage as they were a little too eager for baskets. After five minutes of see-saw scoreless playing, Shanahan of the N.D.G. boys and McGill's starry Elo traded field goals and set-shots by McGill's Dilkofsky and Fitzgerald gave the visitors a commanding lead with five minutes remaining in the first half. Boyle of Loyola showed great form in setting up plays for his team but the young forwards lacked polish around the nets. Dilkofsky was displaying great speed in piercing the maroon and white defence.

The tempo speeded up as Hilton and Gutelius dropped in successful baskets and two beautiful long shots by Zalkind swished the cordage in Loyola territory. Shanahan and Dogherly were very busy men at this point trying to set up their mates in scoring position. Murray closed the first-half scoring when he dropped in a foul shot after being charged by Shannon and the Redmen led 19-10.

SECOND HALF

Loyola's rejuvenated hoopsters began to roll in the early moments of the second half. Hilton's two fine baskets and defensive work. Charlebois' two set shots and a counter by Norris doubled Loyola's score while Elo's looper and a pic-Continued on Page 4.

Carabins Trim Queen's, Bow to Blues' Puckmen

The local Carabins from the neighboring University of Montreal on the north side of the mountain had an action-packed weekend in the way of hockey, losing the first to Varsity in Toronto, to the tune of a nine-to-two lacing, and then swinging back to their home ice to be the masters of an 8-3 trouncing to the tricolour.

FIRST GAME

The first half of the U. of M. venture found Toronto scoring three goals in each period before 2,000 fans in Varsity arena Friday night. Varsity showed definite superiority over the frequently inept Carabins who came to life only briefly in the second and third periods. The Blues built up a six-nothing lead before Gignac banged in both Montreal's goals in the first five minutes of the third period.

The game was only three minutes old when Boyd opened scoring for Varsity with Turcott and Rutledge adding goals in the first period. Romanick and Bark scored a minute apart in the second period while Johnson smashed in the sixth counter late in the period. Romanick and Kryzanowski scored the third period markers.

14 PENALTIES

Fourteen penalties were evenly handed out in a rough game, which featured an equal number of broken sticks. Varsity defenceman Kryzanowski was the best man on ice while Rutledge and Johnson also showed nicely. Gignac and Pepin were the only Montrealers to get on track.

In the second fixture at the Verdun Arena on Saturday night the Carabins whipped the galloping Gaels by a score of 8-3, with two of Queen's tallies coming in the last five minutes of play. At one stage during the proceedings, the U. of M. squad held a 7-0 lead over their visitors.

Redmen Place In Ski Jumping At Cole des Neiges

In a meet run by McGill in conjunction with the Zone Jumping Association at the Cole des Neiges Hill on Saturday afternoon, the Red and White stalwarts succeeded in securing six of the first eleven positions in the final results.

FOSTER FOURTH

John Foster landed the fourth slot by taking off into the air twice for jumps of 113 and 111 feet. His total of 224 feet represented a distance of only ten feet behind the total of Martin McKenna, who landed in first place to cop top honors. McKenna, a representative of the Park Toboggan and Ski Club came through with jumps of 114 and 120 feet, to lead the flock, 8 feet ahead of Ray Desrochers of the Ski Club and Hec Sutherland of the Ski Gulls.

Other McGill representatives were Ted Pope in sixth position, J. Hale, seventh, Pohn Draper, ninth, J. Houseman, tenth, and Baz Davis, eleventh. John Foster of McGill will best be remembered by skiing fans as the lad who led a Red and White squad, along with Karre Olsen, to victory at the Dartmouth Winter Carnival last year.

Arts-Science Victorious In Interfaculty Swim Contest

The Red and White mermen certainly played havoc with the aquapura over at the N.D.G. pool last Saturday afternoon, as they battled it out for supremacy in the interfaculty swimming competition. Highest score for the afternoon's proceedings were racked up by the combined Arts and Science squads which registered a 54 point total.

The Science men accounted for 35 of this total while the Artsmen gained another 19. In the second slot came the Purvis Hall Boys, who succeeded in accumulating a sum of 28 points to their credit. They were followed closely by their arch rivals, the Plumbers, who came within one point of second place with 27 points. The Med. faculty and Phys. school ended up in the fourth and fifth positions with 24 and 21 points respectively.

Young, of second year sawbones fame, along with Errington of Dawson college, were the individual high scorers of the day—each contributing 12 points to their respective faculty totals. Also outstanding were Christie and Graitens, both of Dawson College, as they each notched 9 points for the Science and Engineering teams respectively. The basis for points was six for first, five for second, etc., the first six men placing in each event. In the 50 yards free style competition, Young placed first in 27.3 seconds, while Ashton of Arts I and Gaitens of the Science squad followed closely in the second and third positions. In the 50 yards breast stroke race Errington showed all and sundry that he will be a contender for the breast stroke position on the Intercollegiate squad, as he easily copped the honors in 36.9 seconds.

The 50-yard back-stroke event introduced a batch of new winners in the persons of Hope (SC. 3), Mahon, of water polo fame, and Webster (Sc. 4), who placed first, second and third respectively — winning time, 33.9 seconds. In the 100 yards free style race, Young and Ashton once more repeated their act of the 50 yard event, as they placed first and second with an amazing, first place time of 60.9 seconds.

Breast stroke artist Errington once more nabbed first place in the 100 yard event in 1 minute and 24.4 seconds. He was followed by Rennie of the Arts clan and Walford of the Beer Boys, who swam into the second and third positions. The 100 yard back stroke event was won by Christie in 1 minute and 19.4 seconds, while Osterman of the Fizzed School placed second.

In the 75 yard Medley relay the Chem lab boys copped the bunting, in 42.9 secs., and were chased all the way by the Commerce and Engineering trios, who came in second and third. The 100 yard free relay saw the Commercemen clinch first place in 54.1 secs., thus crediting their account with six points more for the afternoon's total. The Science and Med squads notched the second and third slots respectively.

In the diving exhibitions which took place, Osterman of Phys. Ed. 3 took first place honors, while Odall of the Beer Hall and Peers

THE LUMBERMAN THE NICKEL WORKER depend on each other

IN ONE YEAR more than 77,000,000 board feet of lumber and timber have been used by the Canadian Nickel industry. It would take 4000 freight cars — an average of more than ten every day in the year — to transport this material. Producing this timber means a lot of jobs for Canadians in the woods and in the sawmills.

The lumber industry, in turn, uses a great deal of equipment containing Nickel. The tractors and hoisting equipment up in the bush; the machinery and equipment in the sawmills; are tough and strong because of Nickel. The purchase of such equipment means jobs for men in the Canadian Nickel mines, smelters and refineries.

So the Canadian Nickel industry needs Canadian lumber; the lumber industry needs Canadian Nickel. To some extent at least the lumberman owes his job to the Nickel industry and in turn he helps to keep the Nickel worker busy. No matter how we earn a living, we are all one family, each depending on the others.

ture play by Murray made the score read 24-23 for McGill for 12 minutes left. Then McGill shot into a seven-point lead with Elo sinking two short shots and Zalkind dropping in another long basket. This burst of speed had no effect on the west-end cagers as Norris and Charlebois scored, Elo bounced in a lay-up but Loyola came charging back with two field goals from difficult angles. This made the count read 33-32 for McGill with a minute to go. Loyola's guards staved off several of the Redmen's driving rushes and then Charlebois broke away on a pass from Hilton, sped up the left side of the court and looped in a high arching shot which found its mark for Loyola to give the maroon and white the game, 34-33.

The McGill Junior Water Polo Team will resume their Montreal Water Polo League Schedule this evening at the M.A.A.A. at 8 o'clock. In their previous game against the

In that game the McGill team was forced to finish the match one man short because the remainder of the team were lying on the sides of the pool trying to get the cramps out of their knotted legs. Tonight, however, the complete Red Team will be on hand and when those who are able to climb out of the pool do so the shoe is likely to be on the other foot.
